Life History of the child and the reason for sponsorship:

Since the occupation of Tibet, thousands of Tibetan fled Tibet and embarked on an arduous and perilous journey into exile. Subsequently, they took refuge in India, Nepal, and Bhutan. Inherently, the life of refugees is that of struggle, plagued by impoverishment and uncertain future. Nevertheless, under the guidance and aegis of His Holiness the 14th Dalai Lama, it was decided that "Education" holds the key to preserve and sustain the Tibetan struggle for a longer time. Therefore, separate schools for the Tibetan children were established under the administration of the Department of Education, CTA. The DoE is the apex body which has the mandate to give guidance and oversee the education of the entire Tibetan community in exile. On 16th May 1999, DoE started a new organization (Sambhota Tibetan Schools Society) that would manage the schools which were erstwhile managed directly by the DoE. Sambhota primarily provides education in far-flung areas, providing wholesome education to those less privileged.

Tenzin Dhadon studies at our sister school Gangkyi Peteon, Dharamsala, Himachal Pradesh. It is the first Tibetan school to implement our exile government Basic Education Policy (BEP), where the primary language is Tibetan and English is a secondary language. Her father is a traditional Tibetan Thangka painter while her mother is a housewife. However, these days there is a sharp decline in the demand of Thangka painters. Hence, he is facing difficulties running his family expenses, let alone covering their daughter's school fees. They want their daughter to study well and become self-reliant and independent unlike themselves.

Dhadon is an adorable and studious little girl who is fond of reading books, skipping and drawing. Further, she is fond of spending time with her friends and sibling. Physically, she is a well-developed child and is fond of her mother. Her parent wants her to study well and become a contributing member of not only our exile Tibetan community but the world at large. Additionally, her favourite food is Pizza while white and pink is her favourite colour. Her favourite subject is Tibetan and Mathematics. Her humble parent has a huge expectation from her and wishes to see her succeed unlike themselves. If she studies well, she can change the poor lifestyle of her family.

We assure you that, we will keep you posted and updated about the child twice a year, covering her progress in academic and co-curricular activities. We the entire staff members and the children would like to thank you for your unwavering support till now, we have made good progress till now, but we are also aware that there are still more grounds to cover, so to achieve that we continually require your both physical and moral support.
